WILL BE HEARD
AT CHAUTAUQUA

That the most eminent priest on the Chautauqua platform and one of the best loved men by all good folks in Minnesota and the northwest is coming to Ogden to the Chautauqua for July 23 is a great delight to not only the many Catholics of Utah, but to us all, regardless of creed. The close worker of Archbishop Ireland and the leader in every movement to help his fellowmen, the Northwestern Chronicle has well said of him:

"The name of Father Cleary is known throughout the land. It is deservedly so. His is a charming personality. As a priest he is all that a priest should be. With the grace and power of a great orator he combines the quality of a great administrator. Accessible at all times, quiet and unpretentious, he has made his own love him for his devotion to the humblest duties of priesthood. He has made the non-Catholic public esteem him for his independence of thought and his devotion to the cause of suffering and toiling masses of the people."

"Twenty-five years as a priest have furnished the amplest evidence of the greatest of the achievements of Father Cleary. He is beloved, not because he is able and eloquent, but because he is earnest and untiring in the doing of good to those around him, and because he is ever ready to sacrifice his own ease and interest and to do his duty fully to his church, to his God and to his fellow men."

"The Minneapolis Times says of him: 'There is no clergyman in any communion in Minneapolis who employs his gifts and opportunities more effectively and unselfishly in the service of his fellow men than Father Cleary. Minneapolis has no more loyal, alert, humane and graphically intelligent citizen.'

"Father Cleary's lecture was a grand treat. He is the most fascinating talker that has stood on the Music Hall stage for years," is what the Evening Leader of Wilkesbarre, Pa., says of him.

J. F. Sessions of Waterloo, Ia., says: "There has never been a better lecture delivered in Waterloo than Dr. Cleary's on 'American Citizenship,' while 'A ripe scholar, brilliant orator, a Christian gentleman and a patriotic American' is what one of the big assemblies says of Father Cleary. Father Cleary will give here his famous lecture on 'American Citizenship.'"

INDIANA STICKS BY MARSHALL

BURLINGTON IS NEARING OGDEN

SURVEYORS IN OGDEN VALLEY AND MEN BUYING RIGHTS-OF-WAY FOR A RAILROAD—SAID TO BE IN THE EMPLOY OF THE HILL ROAD—HARRIMAN PEOPLE ARE ACTIVE.

That the Burlington railroad will have a line into Ogden before the opening of the San Francisco fair is the prediction of a number of local railroad men who believe that the men now working in Ogden valley, securing rights-of-way and surveying, are connected with the Hill lines rather than with an unknown group of Omaha capitalists.

Sometime ago, when an effort was made to learn who the men, now planning for a railway through Ogden canyon, were working for the inquisitive ones were told that the surveyors were working under the direction of A. P. Wells of Omaha. When Mr. Wells, who was making his headquarters in Logan, was approached, he reluctantly told a story of a project to connect the present Salt Lake & Ogden Railway line with a line to be built from this city to Logan. He stated that the capital for the new line was being furnished by Omaha capitalists, who did not wish their names to be used in connection with the project.

While this story was generally accepted at the time, there are now persistent rumors in railroad circles that the presence of the engineers in the vicinity of Huntsville and Eden means more than the supposed electric line from Ogden to Logan. It is stated that one of the men working with the surveying gang admitted that the men were drawing their pay from the Burlington Railroad company.

A number of the residents of Huntsville are firmly of the opinion that the men are in the employ of the Burlington company.

Several months ago, in the manipulation of Gold railroad stock, the Hill interests were credited with having obtained a controlling interest. It was argued that the old dream of the Burlington management to run a line into Ogden from the east, through Ogden canyon, would now give way to the seemingly more expedient method of extending the Denver & Rio Grande line north to connect with feed lines of the Great Northern system. While some local railroad men still hold to this theory, more of them contend that the Burlington officials have by no means given up the idea of the Ogden canyon route, and are firm in their opinion that the present activities in Ogden valley really begin the work of extending their lines west to this city.

Should it prove true that the Burlington system is to build a road into Ogden, it will mean that this city is to be the scene of a railroad war, between the Harriman and Hill interests, which has not been equalled in any part of the country in years. A new field of activity and a new agricultural country will be opened to investment.

Those who are more or less familiar with the possibilities of the project are watching the developments with keen interest.

The movement of the Oregon Short Line, to fortify itself in Ogden by purchasing a great block of ground between Washington and Lincoln avenues and Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, may have been promoted by knowledge of the fact that the Burlington is moving in this direction.

DESTITUTION
AVENUE

When they went to investigate and quarantine three cases of whooping cough Friday afternoon, Dr. Pidecock and Sanitary Inspector Shorten discovered, in a house on Adams avenue, a most pitiful case of destitution and disease.

There is a Hanson family that moved to this city from Pocatello on Thursday, three cases of whooping cough, and the family is without any visible means of support.

According to Inspector Shorten, the place is almost entirely devoid of furniture and the children have been sleeping on the bare floors. The inspector says that this is one of the finest opportunities for the manifestation of charity that has come to his notice in many a month.

It is alleged that Mrs. Hanson's husband deserted her in Idaho, and that when the woman and children came to this city they moved into a house which had been rented for them by a relative who is said to be in the employ of the Ogden Roadways Transit company. At present the county commissioners are providing the family with food.

According to Inspector Shorten, there seems to be a tendency on the part of Idaho to send indigent people to this city. He states that there are now quarantined in this city several cases of contagion which have been traced directly to Idaho, and the Hanson cases of whooping cough most assuredly came from that state.

LICENSE IS UNDER NEW LAW

Judge Howell has granted the application of Thomas Foley for a wholesale retail liquor license on Washington avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets. This is the first license granted under the recent ordinance segregating wholesale and retail licenses. Under the old law a license for wholesale and retail liquor selling was issued, the price being fixed at $1,600, but the new law provides that the joint license shall be eliminated and separate licenses issued for the two lines of business, the cost to be $1,200 for retail and $500 for wholesale, making the cost $400 more than under the old law.

COURT HOLDS

The demurrer in the case of William J. Critchlow against George E. Cross, was overruled and the defendant given ten days in which to answer.

In the matter of the estate of Robert Hunter, deceased, the petition for approval, allowance and settlement of annual account and report, was granted.

FIVE FIRES IN BARN AND GRASS

Five match fires and a false alarm called out the fire companies five times in five hours Friday. Shortly before 4 o'clock in the afternoon the department made a run to the corner of Twenty-ninth street and Lincoln avenue to put out a grass fire that had been started by small boys.

Matches, supposed to have been in the hands of small boys, started fires in the barn and chicken coops at the

Another grass fire called the department men to Twenty-third street and Lincoln avenue at 5:30 in the evening. The last call was to put out a grass fire at Twentieth street and Madison avenue. The flames were easily controlled, although for a time they threatened the city sheds near the gravel pits.

POOL ROOM IS OBJECTED TO

A petition is now being circulated by the people who reside in the vicinity of Thirty-sixth street and Washington avenue with a view to securing sufficient signatures to convince the county commissioners that Roy Shumway's pool room just outside the city limits on Washington avenue should be placed under strict regulation and the proprietor or proprietors be required to pay a license to the county. The campaign for turf exchange regulation is being headed by D. F. Steele.

The people in the vicinity of the pool room claim that they have many aggravations to put up with on account of the existence of the pool room near their section of the city.
